Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1991, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.

Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:

a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution’s supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.

b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.

This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.

In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

1 Includes price quotations, advertised competitive bids, limited bids and proposals.

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

EXPRESSION OF INTEREST
ZNT2022/2017LG
APPOINTMENT OF A PANEL OF SERVICE PROVIDERS TO PROVIDE FORENSIC INVESTIGATION SERVICES

In terms of the Copyright Act No. 98 of 1978, no part of this document may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording or by any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from KZN Province Department of Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

COMPILATION OF AN APPROVED LIST OF SERVICE PROVIDERS FOR RENDERING FORENSIC INVESTIGATION SERVICES IN KWAZULU NATAL

1. OBJECTIVE

The objective of the expression of interest is for the Department of Co-operative Governance and Traditional Affairs to compile a comprehensive list of suitable service providers who can be called upon by the department, as and when required, to conduct forensic investigations at selected municipalities and the Department in KwaZulu-Natal (KZN).

2. BACKGROUND

As legislated, the Minister of Co-operative Governance and Traditional Affairs has the mandate, in terms of Section 106 of the Municipal Systems Act No 32 of 2000 and in terms of section 85 of the PFMA, to designate a person or persons to conduct an investigation at any municipality within the Province of KZN and the Department where she believes that maladministration, fraud, corruption or any other serious malpractice has occurred or is occurring.

The Department is required to have mechanisms available to carry out its responsibilities in this regard, which is complemented by constitutional provisions requiring the Department to monitor the financial affairs of municipalities in the Province and of that of the Department.

The Department has identified the need to streamline procedures in order to act swiftly in following up allegations of fraud, corruption and maladministration. Allegations are received by the Department from various sources such as the Office of the Auditor-General, the National Anti-corruption hotline, the press, local ratepayer associations, Councillors, municipal officials or members of the public.

The Department’s previous Panel of Forensic Investigators (ZNT1684) has expired and the Department deems it necessary to establish a new panel from which the Department can make appointments swiftly.

In this regard, procurement processes are put in place to achieve not only the best value for money but also to ensure, through the preferential awarding of contracts to persons disadvantaged by unfair discrimination, that the quality, coverage and development impact of the service to be provided is also not compromised. In undertaking forensic investigations, the Department is bound by tariffs charged for audits as undertaken, on behalf of the Auditor-General as amended from time to time. These costs are applicable to appointments made from this panel. The department has a duty to ensure that those service providers listed on the panel meet certain minimum requirements in as far as employment equity and affirmative action is concerned, in addition to the track record, proven reputation in the market and individual competencies of particular firms to be listed.

Appointments from this panel, of forensic investigators once established, will be made in a fair and equitable manner. Any decision that is made to appoint a particular service provider will be approved by the accounting officer and as designated by the MEC. The Department will also take into account the need to promote and empower small and emerging enterprises.

3. PRINCIPLES FOR FORENSIC INVESTIGATORS.

The need for the establishment of a panel of service providers with expertise in the field of forensic investigations is based on the following principles:

(a) to promote greater responsiveness by the department in the investigation process;

(b) to address the increase in the number of investigations as a result of the implementation of the municipal fraud hotline and the National Anti-corruption hotline;

(c) To maintain confidentiality relating to the nature and magnitude of allegation/s received, individual service providers would be selected from the panel with a competitive quote process;
(d) to ensure investigations are undertaken without delays, which are sometimes associated with normal procurement processes; and

(e) to ensure fairness in the distribution of work only to experts in the field of forensic investigations.

Forensic Investigators shall only be appointed from the approved panel. All deliverables in terms of a specific forensic investigation shall be defined and monitored by the Department.

4. THE PROCESS OF FORENSIC INVESTIGATIONS.

When the MEC deems it necessary to undertake a Forensic Investigation at a municipality in KZN and sufficient predication exists to warrant such action, a suitable resource from the panel shall be identified and appointed to undertake the investigation.

Before accepting an engagement, the Forensic Investigator would be required to report any conflict of interest that could impair his/her professional judgement or objectivity on a specific matter or in a specific municipality. The Department will prepare an agreement and include such in a letter of appointment.

The Forensic Investigator should review the assignment thoroughly. Planning consists of establishing specific objectives, determining the various steps to be taken, and defining the work in order to control the execution of the assignment with reference to the time and cost constraints and the information and other resources available.

The facts and circumstances of each forensic investigation engagement are unique and should be carefully reviewed to develop a suitable action plan that sets out the objectives of the assignment and the methods to be used to address them. Given the nature of forensic investigation assignments, an inductive approach to planning is usually adopted. This means that the planning is done on a continuous basis to accommodate changes in the circumstances of an assignment as new facts are brought to light through the work of the forensic investigator. Persons executing the assignment should therefore be continuously informed of any new facts that emerge and of changes in the nature and execution of the work.

The forensic investigator should gather the information and evidence required to substantiate his or her conclusion, such as analyses, interview notes, written statements, clues and supporting documents. In order to assess the adequacy and appropriateness of the evidence, the forensic investigator should understand all legal requirements and processes required to substantiate such evidence and should consider its quality and quantity as well as the chain of causation of evidence.

The forensic investigator should document and provide evidence of work done. The documentation usually includes working papers explaining the methods used, the analyses, basic facts, data collected, assumptions adopted, conclusion formed, and the evidence gathered in support of the conclusion.

The forensic investigator's report should adequately explain and support the conclusions expressed therein.

When expressing a conclusion, the report should be worded clearly and concisely and it should be understandable, well organised; consistent and the findings should be explicit.

When expressing a conclusion, the report of the investigation and forensic investigator should:

- describe the facts relating to the purpose of the assignment;
- describe the mandate;
provide the information needed to understand the subject matter and environment specific to the assignment;

specify the nature and scope of the work performed and the evidence gathered;

set out the facts and where relevant, assumptions;

describe the approaches taken and methods applied;

explain the important factors considered in forming the conclusion; where relevant, present charts, schedules, and other useful information;

communicate the results of the work and the forensic investigator's findings and/or opinion on the issues submitted;

state date of the report;

specify the restrictions on the use of the report and the limitations of the conclusion; and include recommendations pertaining to civil recovery, disciplinary or criminal actions and follow up procedures that may be required.

The forensic investigator shall hold an official file/s for each forensic investigation. The forensic investigator shall place on this file, all information and evidence required to substantiate the conclusion reached. In terms of the confidentiality the documents on the file should not be discussed or made available to any other parties without the Departments prior written approval. This file shall be the property of the Department.

5. PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Each forensic investigation shall include the following phases:

5.1 ENGAGEMENT
Service providers are required to be registered on the Central Supplier Database (CSD). If successful, the forensic investigator is expected to sign an appointment letter with the Department of Co-operative Governance and Traditional Affairs. An investigation report is expected within three months of commencement of the project.

5.2 PLANNING PHASE

During the planning phase a general strategy and a detailed approach should be developed regarding the expected nature, timing and extent of the investigation. The extent of planning will vary according to the magnitude of the allegation/s and the risks involved, the planning should focus the efforts of the team and should cover all aspects of the assignment.

5.3 EXECUTION PHASE

During the execution phase, appropriate audit and investigative procedures should be developed, documented and executed to ensure that the objectives of the forensic investigation are achieved timeously in accordance with the time allowed to complete the assignment. All objectives of the forensic investigation shall also be executed within the limitation of the budget.
Adequate, complete, relevant, appropriate and reasonable evidence should be obtained to substantiate findings and conclusions and should be comprehensively documented in working papers and working paper files.

The "Best Evidence Rule" should be applied to ensure that evidence obtained is admissible in any legal proceedings including that as required by a court of law.

All documents should be filed in the aforementioned "office file".

5.4 REPORTING PHASE

During the reporting phase, the forensic investigator communicates the results of his/her work in writing to the Department. It should also be ensured that the report complies with the following minimum requirements.

- The factual correctness of the report and the interpretation of the facts must be cleared at the most appropriate level and proof of clarification must be filed on the official file. The latter should indicate why this level was regarded as the "most appropriate".
- It must be logical, clear, concise, complete, objective, timely, logically sequenced and structured, readable and accurate.
- It must contain specific and properly substantiated facts.

- It must contain clear and precise English language and terminology to obviate misunderstanding, ambiguity and perceptions being created.
- Correct typing, spelling, and use of English language are vital.
- Terms and phases must be used consistently. General abbreviations must be avoided as far as possible.
- Graphs, charts and tabulations must be suitable and relevant and must only be used to visually illustrate and explain written information.
- Contents must be relevant to the scope and nature of the investigation.
- The report should identify possible areas for improvement in the internal control environment, which may serve as a guide for the avoidance of a recurrence of any irregularity that has occurred.
- The report must include specific recommendations pertaining to civil recovery, disciplinary or criminal action.
- The report should specify that the conclusion is based on the information available as at the date of the report and could change if new information were to invalidate the information obtained or the assumptions adopted up to that date.
